

Course	Course Title	Professor	Date	Instruction Mode	Time	Course Notes
AMS 301-R	Topics in American Studies	Gabriel Das Chagas Alves Pereira Souza	TuTh	In Person	2:00pm-3:15pm	Content varies by semester.
APY 202-CD	Principles of Cultural Anthropology	David Forest	MoWed	In Person	10:10am-11:25am	Cultural anthropology, including such topics as economics, politics, kinship and families, health systems, religion, and personality.
APY 204-E	Principles of Linguistic Anthropology	Caleb Everett	MoWedFri	In Person	12:20pm - 1:10pm	Human linguistic principles of phonology, morphology, and grammar to construct a framework for understanding the operation of language in cultural context. The functions of human language in structuring ideological, economic, and political realms.
APY 301-Q	World Prehistory: From Caves to Quinoa	Jorge Hung	TuTh	In Person	12:30pm-1:45pm	The global prehistoric record, with emphasis on the development of social complexity and ancient states.
APY 385-S	Caribbean Cultures	Jorge Hung	TuTh	In Person	3:30pm-4:45pm	Caribbean societies, including ethnic diversity, production and exchange, domestic organization, and belief systems.
BPH 418-10	Contemporary Health Issues in South Florida	Perino	Mo	In Person	1:15pm-2:00pm	This course will provide students with an in-depth look at public health topics relevant to communities in South Florida. Emphasis will be placed on the social, cultural, and policy issues that impact the health of vulnerable populations in our community. Interdisciplinary researcher knowledge and practice from the University of Miami and other relevant institutions will be highlighted.
ECO 371-HI	Latin America, the Caribbean, and the Global Economy	Connolly	MoWe	In Person	3:35pm-4:50pm	An analysis of the historical and projected economic growth of major Latin American and Caribbean countries, with emphasis on the post World War II period. This course analyzes industrialization, foreign investment, international trade and regional integration, monetary and fiscal policies, exchange rates, financial stability, corruption, and development strategies and planning within the context of Latin America and the Caribbean.
ECO 371-K	Latin America, the Caribbean, and the Global Economy	Connolly	MoWe	In Person	6:35pm-7:50pm	An analysis of the historical and projected economic growth of major Latin American and Caribbean countries, with emphasis on the post World War II period. This course analyzes industrialization, foreign investment, international trade and regional integration, monetary and fiscal policies, exchange rates, financial stability, corruption, and development strategies and planning within the context of Latin America and the Caribbean.
ECO 372-1G	Special Topics in Ecosystem Science and Policy	Richard Weisskoff	Mo	In Person	2:30pm-5:15pm	Content varies by semester and is indicated in parentheses following course number and title in class schedule.
ECO 372-7D	Special Topics in Ecosystem Science and Policy	Habashi and Berkowitz	Fri	In Person	11:15am-2:00pm	Content varies by semester and is indicated in parentheses following course number and title in class schedule.
ECO 377-4G	Topics in Environmental Economics and Development	Weisskoff	We	In Person	2:30pm-5:15pm	Content varies by semester and is indicated in parentheses following course number and title in class schedule.
GEG 235-ST	Wine, Environment & Society	Stoler	Th	In Person	5:05pm-7:50pm	Explores regional differences in wine production, consumption, economics, culture, politics, and globalization, while cultivating basic wine literacy.
GEG 331-S	Sustainable Development	Cardoso da Silva	TuTh	In Person	3:30pm-4:45pm	The concepts of sustainable development, its origins, and the global conventions associated with it. We use indicators of human well-being, governance, environmental conservation, social inclusion, and economic prosperity to evaluate how countries are making their development trajectories more sustainable. Although most of our discussion adopts a global perspective, the research conducted by students is focused on the challenges for implementing sustainable development policies in tropical and sub-tropical countries.
GEG 366-1T	Cities in Time and Space	Grant	In Person	In Person	5:05pm-7:50pm	Interdisciplinary perspectives on the city, urbanity, and urbanization through a series of wide-ranging historical-geographical contexts. Field excursions are incorporated into the course.
HIS 228-Q	Consumer Society: A Global History	Elena	Tu	In Person	5:05pm-7:50pm	In the United States we are surrounded today with a seemingly limitless variety of consumer goods, and we are offered constant reminders of the increasingly globalized nature of modern life. Too often, however, such commentary reflects a shocking lack of perspective about the origins and evolution of these trends. This course encourages a deeper understanding by exploring the history of how consumer societies emerged across the world. Spanning an arc from the eighteenth century to the present, the course looks at the social and cultural impact of global consumables (ranging from food to automobiles) in the Americas, Europe, Asia, and other regions. The readings and lectures consider the social, ethical, and environmental problems associated with the rise of global consumption.
HIS 272-Q	Hawai'i and the Pacific World: or, how Surfing Colonized California and the World	Nesvig	TuTh	In Person	12:30pm-1:45pm	On the surface this is a class about surfing. But to understand surfing is to study the history of Hawai'i. The course examines the history of Hawai'i and of the sport which Hawaiians developed and created, surfing. This course traces the early history of ancient Hawai'i, when navigating migrants traveled between Polynesia and Hawai'i until they ceased contact. Traditional Hawai'i was governed by complex social and ritual systems, bound by the concept of kapu, or taboo. The class analyzes the process by which Hawai'i went from being a united kingdom to missionary outpost and target of pineapple plantations; to a U.S. territory which specifically disenfranchised native Hawaiians; to the near suppression of surfing. The resulting Hawai'i Renaissance reshaped images of Hawai'i and surfing and surfing found willing converts in California. Other topics include the history of surfing styles and competition; comparative surf breaks and shore culture; California dreamin', the feeling you get when you hear the Eagles; beach bums; professional surf competitions and O'ahu North Shore culture; spam and plate lunch; the broader Pacific world; castaways; fur traders; tuna and canning industry; fishermen.
HIS 356-Q	History of Argentina's Civilization, Barbarism, and Power	Elena	TuTh	In Person	12:30pm-1:45pm	How did a country that was supposedly so prosperous and advanced become a land of perennial crisis? Countless observers have posed variations on this question in seeking to make sense of the "Argentine riddle". This class will provide students with an introduction to the fascinating history of Argentina. We will reject pat explanations of the "riddle" to examine instead the array of cultural, political, and economic forces that have shaped Argentine society.
HIS 551-1D	Studies in Latin American History	Bustamante	Mo	In Person	11:15pm-2:00pm	Selected topics in Latin American history. Subtitles describing the topics to be offered will be shown in parentheses in the printed class schedule, following the title.
INS 310-ST	Advanced Topics in INS	Kubalkova	Th	In Person	5:05pm-7:50pm	Content varies by semester and is indicated in parentheses following course number and title in Class Schedule.
INS 359-1T	Culture, Civilizations, and Religion in International Relations	Kubalkova	Tu	In Person	5:05pm-7:50pm	International Relations (IR) theories have traditionally neglected ideational factors such as identity, religion, and culture: unlike states, they were "non-territorial"
INS 385-R	Latin American Topics	Twichell	TuTh	In Person	2:00pm-3:15pm	Subtitles describing the topics to be offered will be shown in parentheses in the printed class schedule, following the course number and title.
INS 563-4K	International Organizations	Gomez Mera	We	In Person	6:35pm-9:20pm	The role, function, and impact on states of international governmental and non-governmental organizations in critical areas like peace and security, human rights, economic development, and environmental degradation.
LAS 301-HI	Interdisciplinary Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Studies	Moise	MoWe	In Person	3:35pm-4:50pm	Topics vary. Interdisciplinary focus may be thematic (e.g.: revolutions, new social movements, women's rights, Latin Americanism, testimonio, culture industries, etc.) or regional/national (e.g.: Andean Studies, Southern Cone Studies, Caribbean Studies, Mexican Studies, etc.)
LAS301-J	Interdisciplinary Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Studies	Butterman	MoWe	In Person	5:05pm-6:20pm	[The Brazilian Short Story], conducted entirely in Portuguese, surveys the development of arguably the most important and innovative literary genres in contemporary Brazil. Combining significant readings, songs based on and inspired by short stories, films, and documentaries featuring interviews with writers studied this semester, the course treats the (de)volution of the short story from 1890 to the present. One of the central aims of this writing-intensive class is to further develop critical writing and reading skills for both non-native and heritage speakers.
LAS 301-Q1	Interdisciplinary Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Studies	Diaz Balsera and Schmader	TuTh	In Person	12:30pm-1:45pm	Topics vary. Interdisciplinary focus may be thematic (e.g.: revolutions, new social movements, women's rights, Latin Americanism, testimonio, culture industries, etc.) or regional/national (e.g.: Andean Studies, Southern Cone Studies, Caribbean Studies, Mexican Studies, etc.)
LAS 301-T	Interdisciplinary Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Studies	Moreno	TuTh	In Person	5:05pm-6:20pm	Topics vary. Interdisciplinary focus may be thematic (e.g.: revolutions, new social movements, women's rights, Latin Americanism, testimonio, culture industries, etc.) or regional/national (e.g.: Andean Studies, Southern Cone Studies, Caribbean Studies, Mexican Studies, etc.)
LAS 320-QES	Special Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Environment	Schifani	TuTh	In Person	3:30pm-4:45pm	Topics vary. Interdisciplinary focus on policies and impact on globalization on the environment.
LAS 350-Q	Special Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Art and Culture	Cohen	TuTh	In Person	12:30pm-1:45pm	Topics vary. Focus may be thematic or regional, but will address issues in Latin American and Caribbean Art and Culture.
LAS 360-R	Special Topics in Latin American and Caribbean Politics	Saavedra and Arce	TuTh	In Person	2:00pm-3:15pm	Topics Vary. Interdisciplinary focus may be thematic or regional (eg: democracy, new social movements, globalization, politics and society.)
LAS 385-R	Politics and Society in Latin America and the Caribbean	Twichell	TuTh	In Person	2:00pm-3:15pm	This course draws from the political science subdiscipline of comparative politics and the interdisciplinary fields of international studies and Latin American studies to analyze and evaluate the quality of democracy within the broader region of the Caribbean and Latin America. In its approach, the course examines the competing influence of current problems of democratic governance in the Caribbean and Latin America, including corruption, exclusion, inequality, poverty, as well as more recent drifts toward dealignment, illiberalism, the proliferation of organized crime, and forced migration. A survey of contending theoretical perspectives informs comparative analysis.
LAS 494-01	Independent Study in Latin American and Caribbean Studies	TBA	In Person	TBA	TBA	Independent study leading to a thesis, original piece of research, or creative project on a Latin American or Caribbean subject.
LAS 495-01	Senior Honors Thesis I	Twichell	TBA	In Person	TBA	This course pairs students with a faculty mentor to set and guide a research agenda in preparation for writing the senior honors thesis. Students will study advanced topics in Latin American and Caribbean Studies, according to faculty interests.
LAS 496-01	Senior Honors Thesis II	Twichell	TBA	In Person	TBA	This course pairs students with a faculty mentor to guide the writing process for the senior honors thesis. Students will study advanced topics in Latin American and Caribbean Studies, according to faculty interests.
LAS 502-J	Research Design in Latin American Studies	Hung	TuTh	In Person	6:35pm-7:50pm	Interdisciplinary research methods and skills in Latin American and Caribbean studies.
LAS 505-01	Internship in Latin American and Caribbean Studies	Twichell	TBA	In Person	TBA	On-site experience in business, governmental organization, or non-profit organization on dealing with Latin America and/or the Caribbean.
LAS 506-01	Civic Engagement in Latin America	Twichell	TBA	In Person	TBA	On-site experience in a civic engagement project in Latin America or the Caribbean.
MCY 333-R	Introduction to Cuban Music	Quevedo	TuTh	In Person	2:00pm-3:15pm	A survey of Cuban Music from the early European settlement to the present. Course addresses African and Caribbean influences and the amalgamation into new national styles, as well as current musical activity on the island and in expatriate communities.
MCY 554-S	Music Cultures of the World	TBA	TuTh	In Person	3:30pm-4:45pm	A study of music culture of the region including the music of folk societies, popular artists, and classical musicians. Open to non-majors.
MLL 325-R	World Cinema	Sawfata	TuTh	In Person	2:00pm-3:15pm	World cinema in a comparative perspective - national or international film movements and directors - based upon narrative film analysis. May be repeated for credit if topics vary.
POL 326-ST	Native American Politics	Orr	Tu	In Person	5:05pm-7:50pm	Native American tribes are an important part of the contemporary American political system. This is true at the national, state, and local level. Taking a historical perspective, interactions between tribes and settler governments also shaped many of the governing institutions in the United States. This class explores the power of native tribes and the changing relationship with federal and state governments. Issues and concepts covered include colonization, economic development, resource and environment, tribal sovereignty, assimilation, stereotypes, and American political development.
POR 364-J	The Brazilian Short Story	Butterman	MoWe	In Person	5:05pm-6:20pm	The Brazilian short story since 1890. Conducted in Portuguese. POR minors must complete all written assignments in Portuguese. Others may opt to write in English, Portuguese, or Spanish. Fulfills Humanities literature requirement.
REL 232-P	A Global History of Christianity	Kling	TuTh	In Person	11:00am-12:15pm	A survey of the historical development of Christianity from the first century to the present, focusing on the major theological and institutional issues considered in their social and cultural contexts.
SOC 335-P	LG&TQ Communities	Johnson	TuTh	In Person	11:00am-12:15pm	Gender, race, age and class differences in the experiences of gays and lesbians. A life-span perspective guides the course after the presentation of some background of biological, psychological, and sociological theories pertaining to homosexuality.
SOC 387-O	Race and Ethnic Relations	Bradstock	TuTh	In Person	9:30am-10:45am	The nature and dynamics of race and ethnic relations with particular emphasis on racial and ethnic groups in the United States. We examine basic concepts and major theories in the analysis of race and ethnic relations, racial and ethnic inequality, past and recent immigration experiences, and the historical and current status of specific racial and ethnic groups. Students will also be engaged in a variety of exercises designed to develop critical assessment and analytical skills for examining and understanding issues related to race and ethnicity.
SPA 303-0H	The Cultures of Spanish America	Matusiak	MoWe	In Person	2:30pm-3:45pm	Historical survey of the arts, letters, science, and political and social institutions in Spanish-speaking Americas.
SPA 303-P	The Cultures of Spanish America	Arce	TuTh	In Person	11:00am-12:15pm	Historical survey of the arts, letters, science, and political and social institutions in Spanish-speaking Americas.
SPA 422-J	Topics in Hispanic Linguistics	Lynch	MoWe	In Person	5:05pm-6:20pm	Special topics in the study of Hispanic linguistics. Possibilities include phonetics/phonology, pragmatics/discourse analysis, sociolinguistics, sociocultural theory, bilingualism.
SPA 501-O	Capstone	Devine-Guzman	TuTh	In Person	9:30am-10:45am	Course with a broad-based topic designed to integrate all the high-level linguistic, critical and analytical skills with the body of knowledge acquired during the course of study towards the major. Topics vary. Open only to undergraduates completing their Spanish major. To be taken in the last semester of the major.